

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of monopoly. How can you claim to be unbiased as a public example when you practice such unethical behavior? Aren't you suppose to provide public forum to all and not just cater to the Bush oil interests? In addition, all candidates are to have equal air time; how is this possible under your regime?

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. If you are to be a 'voice' of the public, then let's see you show Michael Moore's "Fahrenheit 9-11". He offered it to you for 'free' on Friday, 10/15/04, on the Jay Leno "Tonight Show".

The FCC should strongly sanction Sinclair's actions and make it known that you do not condone this action by a public communications company.

Thank you.
